Flowers in Finger-Bowls.

A very pleasing table decoration that s easily carried out throughout the ummer months is the addition of flowers to the fingerbowls. Use double bowls, ne large enough to hold the other, and fill the space between the two with very small blossoms. The effect of dipping the fingers into flower-encircled water is deidedly unique and agreeable.

Machine and Hand Needlework. The difference between hand-wrought needlework and that done by machi is regarded by most women as the difference between an art and an industry, and each is valued accordingly. The machine work, of course, approaches nearer to the model of exactness in execution, but it entirely lacks the impress of refinement and individuality of its creator, to which whatever artistic value hand work may possess is due. There are unigar souls who value such work solely because of its greater cost and because it cannot be afforded by many, but there are as certainly others to whom the real artistic quality of and to whom they give a delight i possible to machine engraving, if finely executed, is beaut ful in its way, but can never por
